PREFACE. the fire transport

It will be noticed that some important additions are made to the volume which we now have the pleasure to present to our subscribers by the insertion under the heading of each locality of a line giving,—first, a local estimate of the population, and,—second, indi-cating towns that possess Banks or Bankers, cating towns that possess Banks or Bankers, and for places not so accommodated the most convenient Banking Town. The use of this information will suggest itself to our subscribers who desire to make the notes of customers payable at banks convenient to them; and to those who wish to effect their own collections through local banks, as some prefer to do. It must be borne in mind, however, that facilities for collections in places where there are no banks, by the banks in the immediate locality, are frequently very imperfect, depending upon local expresses, stage lines, mail, &c., and only such instruments as require "No Protest" should be sent forward against persons residing in places possessing no bank. A complete list of Banking Towns, the names of bank officers, &c., will be found in its proper place in the Appendix.

We insert also for the first time in this edition a complete Postal and Shipping Guide, which has been compiled by Lieut. Col. White, of the Post Office Department at Ottawa, which, we hope, may be found of use. We have always maintained that the legitimate work of the Agency, in obtaining information work of the agency, in obtaining information as a guide to credits, demanded all the energy and ability at our disposal, and to attempt to comect with it the compilation of gazetteer information was an unadvisable and injudicious step. The work requires special training and aptitude, and has not a legitimate and necessary connection with the main object of the book. We have, therefore, deemed it advisable to separate the two so far as to enable us to concentrate our own efforts upon Agency work, and to use in conjunction therewith, from outside, the services of those specially adapted to the procuring and arranging of the Shipping, Postal, and Gazetteer information, believing that in this way we give to our subscribers the highest attainable excellence in both departments.

There is also inserted a Synopsis of the Laws of the various Provinces for the collection of debts and other purposes,

While the variety and usefulness of the Appendix must commend it to our subscribers, it will be remembered that it is merely an adjunct to the Reference Book.

which in itself is a compilation as perfect and as accurate as can be accomplished in view of as accurace as can be accompnished in view of the magnitude of the work. The book now contains the name of every business man throughout the entire Dominion of Canada, so arranged as to show the trade in which each is engaged and the locality in which each resides, with estimates of Worth and each resides, with estimates of worth and Indications of Credit, generally so accurate that the reliance upon them, by our sub-scribers, is altogether greater than we desire. We have carefully revised the whole country recently, and by the aid of several thousand intelligent local correspondents are enabled to present a very vivid photograph of the local standing of almost every business man in the country. The more remote sections, such as the Province of Manitoba, British Columbia, etc., have been visited at a large expense, and altogether we present the work with a 'great deal of confidence. The decision of so important a matter as credit should be arrived at only after the the most exhaustive investigation, in which the ample details on record at our various offices should form an important part. Many years of the closest investigation have resulted in an accumulation of facts of the greatest value; all these, with the facilities we possess at our Branch Offices, with the contents of this volume, are available to our subscribers. Thanking them for their continued confidence, we invite them to participate to the largest extent in the benefits thus provided for them. Ours is the only Agency that systematically and thoroughly reports the entire country by trained traveling reporters, who are enabled to avail themselves of an infinite variety of the most reliable sources of information, which, without personal visitations to each locality would be impossible. Parties contenting selves with an Agency whose low prices do not enable them to make judicious expenditures in this direction, have only the opinion of a single local correspondent, regarding whose reliability or capacity they know nothing whatever.
